A number of recent projects at the U of C have incorporated green infrastructure features. We'll check them out, along with an experimental parking lot bioretention area that was installed more than 10 years ago. In between we will have some presentations (TBD) and head up to a Civil Engineering lab to view some green roof and bioretention research initiatives. Who is the ALIDP? Our mission is to equip Albertans to create vibrant, ecologically functional landscapes within the built environment, through comprehensive stormwater management.
